

The Indiana Center for Intercultural Communication and the World Languages & Cultures Department invite you to attend

Japan and the Japanese people: What you won't find in the travel guides.

Presented by Professor Kenichi Namai

Wednesday, October 25, 2006

4:30—5:30 p.m.

Cavanaugh Hall 508

Professor Kenichi Namai is the 2006 visiting scholar for the Indiana Center for Intercultural Communication, IU School of Liberal Arts at IU-PUI.

Dr. Kenichi Namai, Associate Professor of Linguistics at Waseda University, Tokyo, received his Ph.D. from Georgetown University in 1998. In 1999, he joined Waseda and has taught English and Linguistics in the School of Science & Engineering and the School of International Liberal Studies. He is the author of three EFL grammar books and a co-author of an English-Japanese dictionary. His main research interests are EFL pedagogy and application of linguistic theories to English education in general.

If you will attend please contact Alicia Añino at 274-2555 or icic@iupui.edu by 10/24

IU SCHOOL OF LIBERAL ARTS
INDIANA UNIVERSITY-PURDUE UNIVERSITY INDIANAPOLIS

ICIC

INDIANA CENTER FOR INTERCULTURAL
COMMUNICATION

